HAPPY HOLIDAYS!

One of the biggest culprits of clutter and feeling overwhelmed with digital and physical things is excess stuff. This often happens when you impulse buy. You will buy with no plan and slowly, the piles stack up and now you are left with a lot of "stuff".

Now, to be clear, I am not here to make you feel guilty over buying what makes you happy and fulfilled. That's not what we do at The Organized Flamingo.

What I am here to do, however, is to help you get and STAY organized. Solutions that will help you get there at your own pace.

This "Shopping Plan" will help you create a game plan for what you need, want, and should buy this Holiday Season.

There will be no shortage of tempting sales over the next few weeks with Black Friday, Small Business Saturday, and Cyber Monday. All fighting for your attention and spending money. So start making a plan over what you intend to buy so you don't miss out on the really good sales and not be tempted by the ones that will only cause an excess in your life.

Cheers to a fruitful & healthy Holiday Season.

Happy Organizing!
